COLRC Specialty Meeting

October 10, 2018 -
"Specialty/Raffle Lasagna Dinner" at the home of Lori & John Bentine

 Please bring raffle items with you!*

With Huron River and the National looming, it means our own specialty is not far behind! Five weeks to be exact! So far, I've collected a nice sampling of "Silent Auction" items over the last 12 months. Big question is whether or not to hold a "ticket" raffle as well. We'll decide at the Oct. 10th Meeting.

I still need baskets (any creative container), bumpers, leather leads, dog beds, dog toys/food, outdoor gear and dog art as well as wine, craft beers or seasonal Halloween, Thanksgiving or Christmas offerings. (The Homegoods Store, T.J.Maxx or Michael's are great places to uncover any of the above mentioned treasures!

Once again, we'll feature our "Labrador Consignment Shop". Please rifle through your garage, barns and closets for any coats, vests, or other gently used accoutrements for resale!

From the FDA

Fact Sheet for Pet Owners and Veterinarians about Potential Adverse Events Associated with Isoxazoline Flea and Tick Products

Fast Facts

- The FDA is alerting pet owners and veterinarians of the potential for neurologic adverse events in dogs and cats when treated with drugs that are in the isoxazoline class.
- The FDA-approved drugs in this class are Bravecto, Credelio, Nexgard and Simparica. These products are approved for the treatment and prevention of flea infestations, and the treatment and control of tick infestations.

Although these products can and have been safely used in the majority of dogs and cats, pet owners should consult with their veterinarian to review their patients' medical histories and determine whether a product in the isoxazoline class is appropriate for their pet.

What should I know?

- The FDA considers products in the isoxazoline class to be safe and effective for dogs and cats but is providing this information so that pet owners and veterinarians can take it into consideration when choosing flea and tick products for their pets.
- Isoxazoline products have been associated with neurologic adverse reactions, including muscle tremors, ataxia, and seizures in some dogs and cats;
- Although most dogs and cats haven't had neurologic adverse reactions, seizures may occur in animals without a prior history;

Many products are available for prevention and control of flea and tick infestations. You can discuss all options with your veterinarian to choose the right product for your pet.

What products are in the isoxazoline class?

- The FDA-approved drugs in this class are
- Bravecto
- Credelio
- Nexgard
- Simparica

These products are approved for the treatment and prevention of flea infestations, and the treatment and control of tick infestations.

What should I do if my pet has an adverse drug event while using an isoxazoline product?

- If your dog or cat experiences any adverse event while using an isoxazoline product, first consult your veterinarian.
- The FDA continues to monitor adverse drug event reports for these products and encourages pet owners and veterinarians to report adverse drug events. You can do this by reporting to the drugs' manufacturers, who are required to report this information to the FDA, or by submitting a report directly to the FDA.
- To report suspected adverse drug events for these products and/or obtain a copy of the Safety Data Sheet (SDS) or for technical assistance, contact the appropriate manufacturers at the following phone numbers:
 - Merck Animal Health (Bravecto): 800-224-5318
 - Elanco Animal Health (Credelio): 888-545-5973
 - Merial (Nexgard): 888-637-4251
 - Zoetis (Simparica): 888-963-8471
- If you prefer to report directly to the FDA, or want additional information about adverse drug experience reporting for animal drugs, see How to Report Animal Drug Side Effects and Product Problems.
- Pet owners and veterinarians who have additional questions can contact AskCVM@fda.hhs.gov or call 240-402-7002.

AMERICAN
KENNEL CLUB®

Dear Club Officers and Delegates,

We have been made aware of a new phishing scam and want to assist you and your Club members in ensuring you do not fall victim to this. Therefore, we are re-sending a message we've previously distributed and ask that you circulate it amongst your members as the best prevention for these scams is education.

- Please make sure that anyone in your Club who has access to Club accounts is aware that they should never disburse any money due to an unexpected email without first verbally verifying with the presumed sender of the email. So, for example, if you receive an email that says it's from the Club President asking for money to be wired to a third party, do not send any money until you personally have spoken to the Club President about the request.
- It is also very important that everyone in your organization knows the warning signs of a fraudulent email. These emails may not only ask for funds, but they may provide links or attachments that install malware or coerce the recipient into providing

Please note that although these kinds of attacks are often referred to as "hacks", they are actually perpetrated using publicly available information, e.g., Club Officer information, which can be easily obtained using a simple Google search. "Hack" implies that someone was able to break into a secured system and gain access to information that is not publicly available (for example, registration information, personal information, credit card information).

Let us assure you that the AKC goes to great lengths to ensure the security of this information. We have a formal security program in place, including a third-party audit by a certified CyberSecurity Assessor. We have threat protection systems in place, and mandatory security education for AKC staff, taken annually. While no company can proclaim to be 100% secure (just ask Target, Yahoo or Sony), AKC's technology team considers security to be a top priority and works feverishly to protect the data of the company and of our members, customers, partners and constituents.

While our specific security details are necessarily confidential, please feel free to reach out to William Hile directly (William.Hile@akc.org) if you have any questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Dennis Sprung
