Health Clinic

The 2018 Health Clinic is in the proverbial rearview mirror and I am happy to report it a success. Our new site worked well for our needs and we had abundant help from club members.

Dr. Metzler did 125 eye exams and Dr. Schober completed 75 heart exams. Although I don't have final numbers yet, after expenses of supplies and lunch are deducted, I anticipate that the club may clear around $1500. Dr. Mann's office has indicated that we are welcome back next year, and we learned a few things that we will do differently with our set up in the new location.

It was a long day; I arrived shortly after 6:30 to determine our specific layout and I left at 5 that evening. I have many to thank and hope I don't forget anyone. Although he likely won't ever see it, special thanks to Bill Cox, who works at the clinic, for giving up his Sunday to come in and hold dogs and check chips for Dr. Metzler. He sure made our day go more smoothly. Thank you to Linda Bednarski for handling the part I loathe...the money. Thanks to Lori Bentine for shuffling people in at the appropriate times and for placating those who were disconcerted at having to wait. Thanks to Brian Tipton who powered through planter fasciitis to do drops. Thanks to Angela Ewald and Christian DiSabato who helped with drops and anything else that needed done on the spot. Thank you to Jan Eichensehr for taking charge of cleaning up as we finished the day, which went a long way to getting us invited back I think. Thanks to Sue Frazier for being another smiling pleasant face to help folks fill out paperwork and send them in the right direction. The majority of our regulars followed us to the new site and were complimentary of the clinic. I couldn't pull it off without a great team to help.

Thank you everyone.

Jennifer

Now that it is summer we often see pets left in hot cars. Below is the Ohio Revised Code for leaving an animal unattended in a stationary or parked motor vehicle in a manner that may endanger the animal's health or safety.

959.133 Immunity for damage resulting from forcible entry of motor vehicle for purpose of removing animal

(A) Except as provided in division (C) of this section, a person shall be immune from civil liability for any damage resulting from the forcible entry of a motor vehicle for the purpose of removing an animal from the vehicle if the person does all of the following:

(1) Determines the vehicle is locked or there is otherwise no reasonable method for the animal to exit the vehicle.

(2) Has a good faith belief that forcible entry into the vehicle is necessary because the animal is in imminent danger of suffering harm if not immediately removed from the vehicle and, based upon the circumstances known to the person at the time, the belief is a reasonable one.

(3) Has made a good faith effort to contact the local law enforcement agency, the fire department, or a 9-1-1 operator prior to forcibly entering the vehicle. If contact is not possible prior to forcibly entering the vehicle, the person shall make contact as soon as possible after forcibly entering the vehicle.

(4) Makes a good faith effort to place a notice on the vehicle's windshield with the person's contact information, the reason the entry was made, the location of the animal, and the fact that the authorities have been notified.

(5) Remains with the animal in a safe location until law enforcement or emergency responders arrive.

(6) Used not more force to enter the vehicle and remove the animal from the vehicle than was necessary under the circumstances.

(B) Nothing in this section shall affect the person's civil liability if the person attempts to render aid to the animal in addition to what is authorized by this section.

(C) A person shall not be immune from civil liability for any damage resulting from the forcible entry of a motor vehicle for the purpose of removing an animal from the vehicle if the person's actions constitute recklessness or willful or wanton misconduct with regard to the forcible entry of the motor vehicle.

(D) As used in this section, "harm" means injury or death.
