PREZ NOTES

I believe that dog people and teachers are the only folks who hope for cold weather and snow!! I don't know about you guys, but I sure enjoyed those two cold weeks with snow on the ground.....clean paws!!!!

I'll be honest.....I very reluctantly accepted this job of president once again. Between Dennis and I, we have served as president for five, soon to be seven, of the 19 years this club has been around, if I'm not mistaken. But if the choice was between letting the COLRC fade into the sunset or taking the job, I decided that the 19 years I have invested in this club would have been for naught if it folded, and I accepted the job. So, this year, I am the president. I have organized and am in charge of the health clinic and Dennis is the show chair. You'll have to bear with me at times....I have very little free time already between teaching high school English (think lots of bad essays to grade), and taking care of my own kennel of dogs. I will do the best job I can. All that being said, where I was going with this is.....hopefully some of you who have not actively participated in the past, will step up and do so this year. I am really happy to see some old faces from the club's beginning years return, as well as some new folks. Already we have had some new people step up and take offices and volunteer for specialty jobs and I can't tell you how much I appreciate that. I have felt a renewed energy at the last board meeting and general meeting and I hope it sticks. We have cut the number of meetings in a year to six, which should make it easier for people to make it there. If we actually started having a decent turnout, we could schedule some speakers again....I'm sure there are lots of new topics of interest. So how about resolving for the New Year to attempt to make it to the six meetings.....that's only 6 of the 365 days in the year.

The new board met last week to discuss the specialty for this year and hammered out a lot of details. Judges have been selected and we are now waiting for responses from them before submitting our application to AKC. At the February general meeting, we have several things going on. Membership dues are due....and can be paid there. The trophy list will be circulating for the specialty classes, so if there is a class you would really like to sponsor, you can sign up for it there. Information will be provided regarding the health clinic in March and you can sign up for appointments if you need to. And then there's that really good Italian food to be eaten at Bruno's!!!!

So, here's hoping for some snow, clean paws and a big crowd at the February meeting. See you there.

~Jennifer
